Beastly Barlow.

There is a creature in this city in the guise of a man, who has so far forgotten all principles of manhood as to be guilty of striking and brutally assaulting his wife. The BAZOO of yesterday morning made a brief statement of Barlow's misconduct, which erred in no particular, save that the case was stated too mildly.

Yesterday morning Barlow called at the BAZOO office and made an exhibition of himself, denouncing the reporter who had written the article about him as a liar, and threatening to clean out the entire outfit.

Of course the mouthings and threats of this black guard were received with the same degree of attention usually paid to such billingsgate, and Barlow, was very politely but peremptorily ordered to leave the office, which he did in due time, muttering curses, loud and deep, as he took his departure.

It will be well for Mr. Barlow and all others to learn that the BAZOO cannot be bullied or in any way prevented from showing up wrong doing of every kind, and special notice is hereby given, that wife-beaters will always be relentlessly dealt with by the BAZOO. Those who behave themselves will never receive any but words of commendation in these columns, but vice and crime of every description will always be ventilated to the full extent.

HYMENEAL.

Celebration of the Lafferty-Harline Nuptials Last Night.

A very pleasant wedding took place last night at the Catholic church, the contracting parties being Mr. E. J. Lafferty and Miss Teresa Harline. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Murphy at 7:30 o'clock after which a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents. A very fine supper including some excellent wine was served and the large number of guests present enjoyed themselves in dancing etc., until a late hour.

Among the many presents received by the bride and groom may be mentioned:

Silver cake basket, Mr. and Mrs. John McGinley.

Silver pickle caster, Wm. Taylor.

Silver dinner caster, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dixon.

Silver caster, J. B. Rickman.

Silver pickle caster, Miss Maude McGabe.

Pincushion and tidies, Miss Mary Rousch.

Pair of vases, Miss Mary Morris.

Cracked glass tea set, Mr. and Mrs. Mont Carnes.

Toilet set, Eddie and Maggie Hough.

Parlor lamp, Geo. Wright.

Pickle caster, J. W. Murphy.

Marble top center table, Mr. and Mrs. James Glass.

Elegant parlor lamp, Frank McGinley.

Fruit dish, Mr. P. Disqua.

Macrame tidy, Miss Lizzie Glass.

Work basket, Miss Mary Lee.

Fruit stand, J. B. Murphy.

Glass tea set, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Conners.

Cake stand, Katie Conners.

Silver butter dish, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jefferson.

Napkin rings, Maggie Kellie.

Water pitcher, J. P. Murphy.

Pickle caster, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurley.

China tea cup and saucer and pair of vases, Mr. Andy Drexheimer.

"Old Oaken Bucket," a handsome picture, Albert Harline.

Handsome tidy, Miss Maggie Lafferty.

China cuspidor, Joe Klink.

Individual salts, Chas. Disqua.

Embroidered pillow shams, Miss Maggie Nirk.

Pair of pillow shams, Miss Maggie Harline.

The attendants were Miss Mary Rousch and Mr. William Taylor, and as both the bride and her bridesmaid were very handsomely attired the quartette presented a fine appearance as they stood before the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafferty will become residents of this city and in their new relation the BAZOO wishes them unalloyed happiness.

Married.

Mrs. Elvira Morris, of Ellis Grove, Randolph county, Illinois, arrived in the city yesterday morning and registered at the Garrison house.

Yesterday morning there also arrived in the city G. S. Ellis, a justice of the peace at Clinton, Henry county.

Later in the day Judge Ellis and Mrs. Morris wended their way to Judge Halstead's office, when the twain were married in that solemn and substantial way for which he is noted.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris took the evening train for home with the blessing of Judge Halstead, J. A. Fisher, clerk at the Garrison house, and the BAZOO.

From Eminent W. L. Almon, President Medical College, Halifax, N. S.: "Quil-den's Liquid Beef Tonic is invaluable for fever, indigestion, and weakness, and cannot be surpassed for female complaints." (Take no other.) Of druggists.

Death of Robert A. Morton.

Mr. Robert A. Morton, for some time past employed as a carpenter in the K. & T. shops, died at his residence on Massachusetts street yesterday, after a long and painful illness, caused by softening of the brain and spinal complaint. Deceased was a prominent member of Amity lodge No. 69, of this city, and the funeral obsequies will be conducted by the members of that organization, as will be observed by a notice published elsewhere.

The funeral will take place from the M. E. church South, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Morton was a most estimable citizen, a kind and considerate gentleman, and he will be sadly missed and sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

SINFUL SAWYER

Runs a House of Prostitution with His Wife as the Chief Attraction.

Little Children Surrounded by the Ruinous Influences of a Degraded Mother.

A BAZOO reporter accidentally happened into the quiet, unassuming city of Hannibal, a night or two since, and while loitering around the rotunda of the Planter's house, "cau, hit onto" quite an interesting item of news for the enterprising paper of the Queen City of the Prairies—and when the scribe says "interesting" he might also say, sad, extremely sad, picturing degradation of the deepest dye, which threatens to swoop into its foul embrace the innocent lives of four young children through the hell-tinged influence of the example set by a prostitute mother and a dastardly pimp of a father.

Though Hannibal is a city of much money and many people, and though society demands protection against such people as those of whom this article is written, yet the newspapers of that town have not seen proper to say a word, when they should have advocated, if necessary, even mob law, to rid their city of so great a nuisance. But to get at the point at issue.

According to the information gleaned by the BAZOO man, about one year ago Andrew Sawyer, hailing from the state of Illinois, went to Hannibal for the purpose of making his home there, carrying with him a wife and four little children—three girls and one boy, the elder of whom, a girl, is not over nine years of age.

Sawyer is a man of rather prepossessing appearance, and the fact that he did nothing for a living soon began to elicit comment. "Murder will out," and when it was learned that his wife was earning the daily bread for the family by selling herself, he, the husband, acting as chief pimp, it became the general talk of the town, and the BAZOO scribe was told by a good citizen that at one time lynching was freely talked of. The matter was soon dropped, however, and to-day this beast, in human form, continues to pimp for his wife and she does not hesitate to yield up everything that is womanly, regardless of the fact that she is setting an example for her little girls that is bound to engulf them in a sea of eternal ruin.

For the edification of the police force of Hannibal, the BAZOO will state that this couple hold out at 311 Main street, one door south of Britannian's store. If they wish to rid their city of the nuisance, well and good; if not, then Sedalia suffers no loss.

TUESDAY'S TWAIN.

Marriage of Dr. S. C. James of Holden, to Miss Doran of Cooper county.

The Toilettes, the Wedding Breakfast, the Presents and Bridal Tour.

It is the season for weddings, undoubtedly, and every day it becomes necessary to chronicle one or more. In this connection, however, one that is worthy of more than passing attention was that which took place yesterday morning near Buncheon, Cooper county. The occasion was the marriage of Miss Lulu Doran, the handsome and intelligent eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Doran, the former a prominent farmer and stock dealer of Cooper county, and Dr. S. C. James, a well known and successful young physician of Holden.

The ceremony took place at eight o'clock in the parlor of the family residence in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Rev. C. C. Woods, D. D. of the Methodist Episcopal church of Kansas City, was the officiating minister, and it is seldom a marriage ceremony is performed in a more beautiful or impressive manner than this one.

The attendants were Miss Mary Belle Walker, daughter of Senator Walker, and Dr. Beal, of St. Louis.

The bride was attired in an elegant toilet of pheasant brown and cream brocade richly combined with seal brown velvet. The underskirt was made with panels of the velvet with draperies of the brocade. The basque waist was of the velvet with coat back. Her ornaments were of diamonds with corsage bouquet of natural flowers.

As a fact worth recording, the brocade, of which this handsome costume was made, was brought from England by the bride's mother, prior to her birth.

Among other handsome toilettes composing the trousseau, was an evening costume of Italian linen, trimmed with a profusion of real Valenciennes lace. With this costume was a tastefully adorned white hat.

The traveling dress was of myrtle green cashmere made with full tucked skirt plaited waist, trimmed with heavy knots of gros grain ribbon. A small hat to match, finished the costume.

In addition to these dresses were several others, one of gray, combined with oxblood satin, one of black silk and one of wine colored silk.

The bridesmaid wore a traveling costume of seal brown made very tastefully, and at the left side wore a bouquet of natural flowers.

After the words which had made the twain one were spoken, and the kisses, tears and congratulations which are usually a wedding feature had been disposed of, the company adjourned to the dining room where a wedding breakfast was laid upon three long tables. These latter were decorated in a most tasteful manner, with pyramids composed of grapes, bananas, apples and other fruit, surmounted by a floral design, large cakes, jellies, baskets of nuts, raisins and confections, pickles, candied orange etc. In addition to the above there was the following bill of fare:

A whole roast pig resting in a bed of greens, with the proverbial apple in its mouth, turkey, chicken salad, fried oysters, Maryland biscuit, ice cream and coffee. This breakfast certainly surpassed anything of the kind seen by the reporter as well as the guests.

The presents were appropriate as well as rich and costly, embracing the following:

Sum of money from the bride's father, Mr. B. F. Doran.

Diamond ear rings from the bride's mother, Mrs. B. F. Doran.

Elegant cardinal plush work box with silver plate engraved with the name "Lulu," from the groom, Dr. S. C. James.

Silver sugar spoon, Miss Anna R. Callahan.

Picture of the bride, taken when a child of four years, from the bride to the groom.

Silver syrup pitcher, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bakewell, Chicago.

Silver spoonholder, Edith C. Fell, Laramie City, Wyoming.

Silver nutcracker with nutpicks, in case, Miss Lillie and Mr. Charles Gibson, Sedalia.

Two sets of silver table spoons with pie knife, Isabel, Fannie and Willie Barth.

Set of silver after dinner coffee spoons in a very handsome case, Mr. J. H. Sinden, St. Louis.

Parian marble card receiver, Mesdames L. A. Radcliffe and C. W. Young, of Kansas City.

Silver card receiver, M. Crawford.

Hanging lamp with bronze fixtures, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Monroe.

Silver and cut glass bouquet holder, Mrs. W. R. Simpson.

Whisk broom in plush holder, "Bob and Ed."

Swinging ice pitcher in repousse work, Messrs. J. D. Parks and R. P. Adams, of Holden.

Cabinet Album handsomely bound in plush, J. V. Murray & Co.

Pen and holder, Dr. S. C. James and Dr. L. F. Murray.

Gold pen and pearl mounted holder in case, S. T. Allen.

Silver ice pitcher, D. S. Barth, St. Louis.

Bracket clock of nickel, M. C. Barth.

Dinner caster, W. G. Bartle.

Copy of the bible, richly bound, Mrs. L. F. Murray.

Silver and cut glass pickle caster, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans.

Wedding greeting on a handsomely designed and fringed card, A. C. Altman, St. Louis.

Complete set of table linen, C. L. Glascock and J. R. Quarrels.

Tea caster with three bottles, Dr. and Mrs. Brent.

Parlor lamp, Miss Maggie Brent.

Card receiver in a design of a silver fan engraved with the word "Lulu," W. R. Kerns.

Carving set, F. Harness and O. Ewing.

Many "regrets" were received, but among the many guests present were noticed the following:

Mrs. C. K. Cullers and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Melson and daughter Addie, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Monroe, of Tipton; Dr. and Mrs. Brent, W. G. Barth and son, St. Louis, Mrs. Dr. Woods and daughter Edna, of Versailles, Mr. and Mrs. George Harned and daughter, Huldah, of Vermont, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Crawford, of Lone Elm; Mrs. Ben Hickman, of Buncheon; Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Evans, of Tipton; Mrs. Dora Rookes, of Booneville; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Nelson and two sons, Louis and Willie; Wm. Floyd and daughter, Mrs. Mary Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Goode, of Buncheon; Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Floyd, of Buncheon; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holiday, of Buncheon; Senator and Mrs. Walker, Messrs. J. R. Quarrels Glascock and Col. Allen, of Holden; Dr. Edwards, of Holden; Rev. Beulah, of Cass County; Mrs. Mary Tucker, and son, Messrs. Parks, Adams, Whittacre, M. Hall; Misses Ella Greenleaf, Minnie Dixon, Annie Truiston, Walt, Briscoe, Florence Rookes Mrs. Smallwood and many more.

Directly after partaking of the breakfast, the newly wedded couple left for Tipton, where they took the east bound train for St. Louis, when after a brief stay, they will go to Litchfield and Chicago, Ill. They will be absent about three weeks and then return and make their home in Holden.

The BAZOO wishes Mr. and Mrs. James, happiness, health, wealth and prosperity, and trust that they shall long go down the "shadows of the valley," hand in hand.

A BRAZEN BEAUTY.

Professing to Conduct a Milliner Shop, She Runs an Assignment House.

A BAZOO reporter, while in search of items yesterday, encountered a well-known young society man on a principal street of the city, who in response to the oft repeated inquiry of the reporter of "What do you know?" replied, "I know a great deal if I only chose to tell it."

"Why not tell it," queried the enterprising news gatherer.

"Well, you see, you BAZOO men have a penchant for intruding your proboscises into other people's affairs, and I don't like to encourage you."

"Very well. All the BAZOO requires is a pointer, and you can rest assured that any matter of interest to the general public will speedily be unearthed by its enterprising reporters, and printed in the "paper published for the people now on earth."

"Will this not be a matter of general public interest?"

"That remains to be seen," persisted the reporter.

After some further parrying with the man who was evidently very desirous to give away something or somebody, the BAZOO man learned that a lady (?) who conducts an alleged milliner shop on one of the principal business streets of the city, only hangs out the sign of "Millinery" for a blind, and that although carried on very quietly and with an outward show of decency, it is a house of prostitution in every sense of the word, and is daily and nightly visited by many high toned gentlemen, who are not in search of hats and bonnets for their wives and daughters.

Why They Call Him "Old Man."

"Yes, that's sadly so," said Jenkins, "my hair is turning gray and falling out before its time. Use something? I would, but most hair restorers are dangerous." "True," answered his friend, "but Parker's Hair Balm is harmless as it is effective. I've tried it, and know. Give the Balm a show and the boys will soon stop calling you 'Old Man Jenkins.'" It never fails to restore the original color to gray or faded hair. Richly perfumed, an elegant dressing.

Some Interesting Railroad News Dished Up by Our Special Correspondent.

The People of Warsaw Not Sleeping but Awake to Their Interests.

And They Confidently Expect to Get the St. Louis, Emporia & Western Road.

Minor Notes of Interest Picked Up by the BAZOO's Special Correspondent

Special Correspondence of the BAZOO.

WARSAW, Oct. 4, 1883.

For the past few days the railroad project has been quietly sleeping in this immediate locality—at least, it would so appear, as the Warsaw papers have dropped the matter altogether. Your correspondent would say, however, that the people are not asleep to their interests, but are earnest in their expectation of getting the road.

As the many readers of the BAZOO are certainly aware, the railroad project referred to here, is the St. Louis, Emporia & Western, a line from Emporia, Kansas, almost directly east to St. Louis, which, it is claimed, will greatly shorten the distance. Now, viewing the map, one will readily perceive that Warsaw is on a direct line between these points, but it is more here to state that being surrounded by imposing hills and deep ravines, many are in doubt as to Warsaw's chances for getting the road.

But, then, to reason on the matter, these objections to Warsaw as a point on the road dwindle into insignificance, when it is remembered that a practical route cannot be located north of this place without striking the prairie country near Cole Camp, which would throw the road too near the Pacific to be a paying enterprise. Furthermore, the survey has been already made to the mouth of Grand river, a small stream that flows into the Osage about two and one-half miles above this place, and following the river bank down the Osage to Warsaw, will furnish the cheapest grading that can possibly be obtained. Connect this fact with the immense mineral resources of these vine clad hills, and we can readily see that the route here referred to is certainly more inviting than any other that may be agitated. Railroads, as other enterprises, are for the purpose of money-making, and viewing the matter from that standpoint your correspondent again reiterates that Warsaw's chances for the road are extremely favorable. As to the mineral hereabouts there can be no doubt. The BAZOO scribe was shown, a day or two ago by one of the most enterprising citizens of this city, Major
